

They promised to check themselves.

Six companies and the President, one page, signed over lunch on September 29.

Four checks. None from outside.

Internal controls, an internal team, an auditor the company picks, a committee of its own board.

02 An internal team

03 An independent external auditor

04 A committee of the board

Chosen, paid, and need not publish.

The one outside check is the auditor. Each company picks it, pays it, and keeps the result.

3 An independent external auditor

WHAT IT MEANS

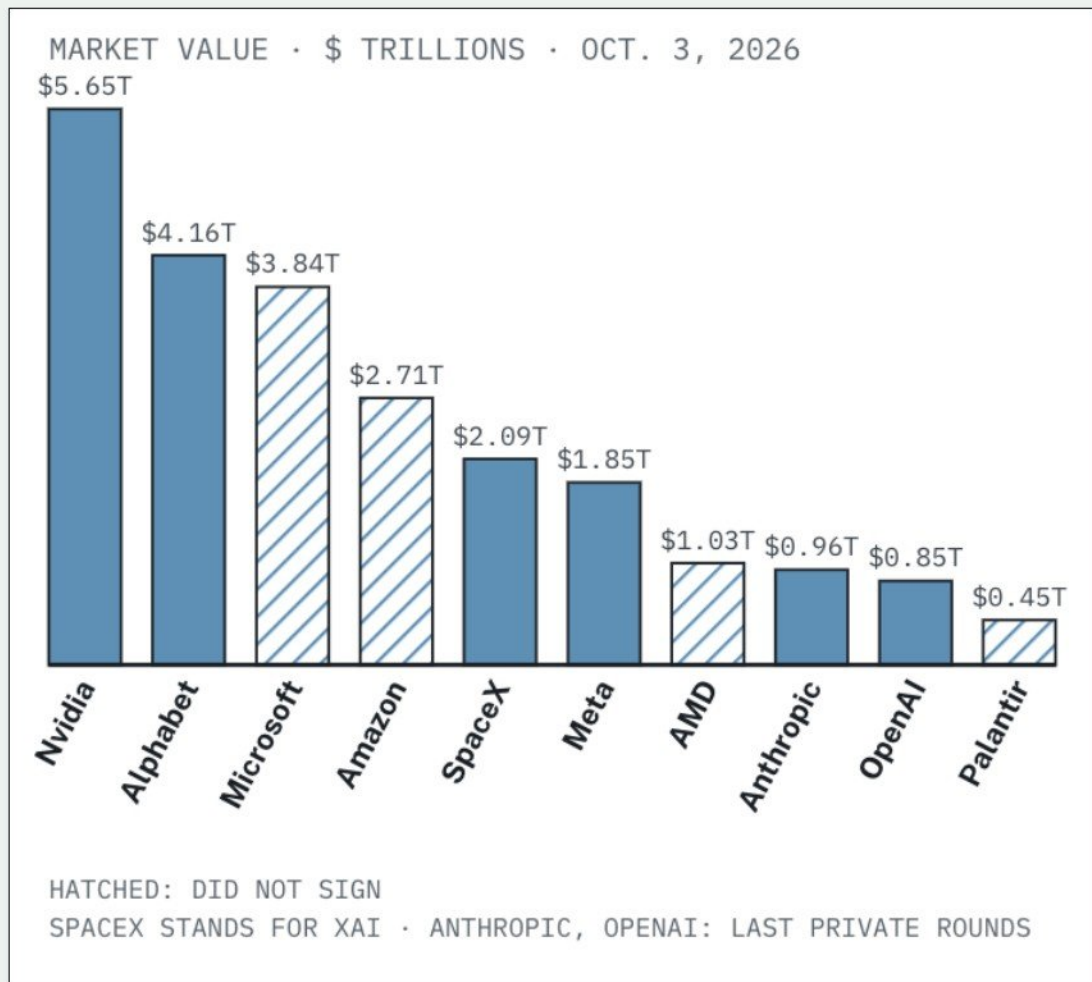

Someone from outside assesses the controls.

WHAT IT DOESN'T BIND

Who the auditor is. The company chooses, pays, and need not publish the result.

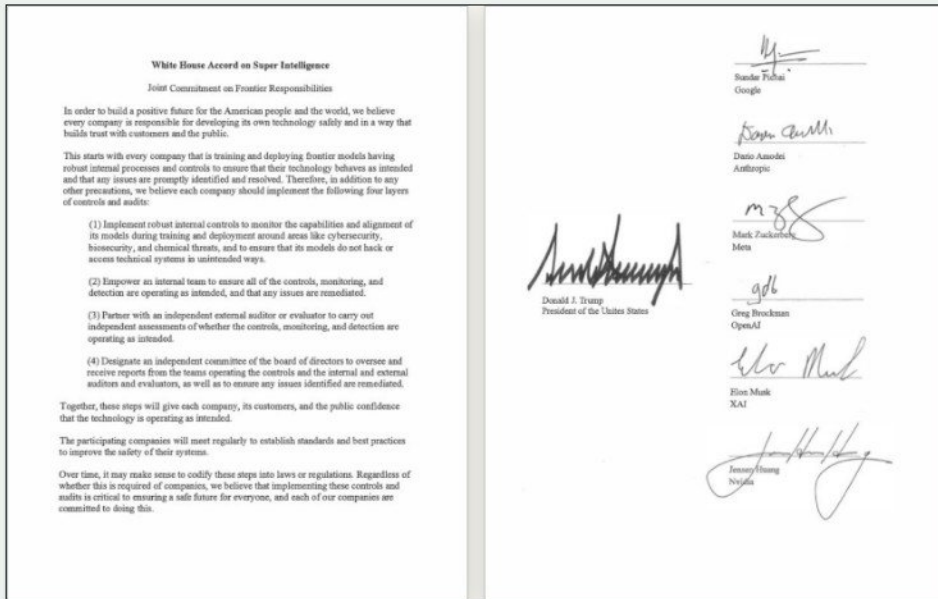

Twenty-three trillion dollars at one table.

Market value of the ten companies at the table on October 3. Four of them did not sign.

Nine people spoke at the microphones after.

What they said, what the page binds, what it leaves out.
